

PORTLLIGAT ON FOOT (HOUSE MUSEUM OF SALVADOR DALÍ)

On foot (1 km) = 15/20 minutes: We go up to the centre square of the village (Passeig), on arrival, with your back to the square you will have a sea view, then we take the promenade on the left. We walk alongside the sea, up to the house Serinyana “Blue House” (modernist house 1913-15) following up to the beach “des Poal” (1st beach after the main beach). When we are there, we take the second street to the left Miranda street, the old path of Portlligat, and we go straight to the top of a steep hill. When we arrive we take direction to the right by a dry stone wall, at the end of this path we will be in front of the campsite. Directly right to the chapel of saint Baldiri. To the left of this we meet the road down to Portlligat (Looking to the right appreciating the beautiful view of this fishermen’s cove and also the House-Museum of Dalí). Indifferently by road or down steps, to the right of the hotel Portlligat, we arrive up to the little wharf and House-Museum of Dalí (Both situated looking at the sea to the right of the cove).

BY CAR:

On entering Cadaqués you come to a roundabout with directions to Saba parking. Opposite to this there are directions to Portlligat (1,5km) the same route takes you to Cap de Creus (8km).
